

Winyan Núpa's Book of Faces

Arcane Item

Restrictions: Arcane Background

Description

Created by the sorceress Winyan Núpa, this hand-crafted book is bound in human skin, and consists of seventy-seven sketches of Native American women, ranging from pre-Columbian princesses to modern Sioux maidens. They all depict Winyan Núpa's various "hosts," the women she convinced to offer their bodies and souls to the sorceress during the Ritual of Rebirth. The sketches were drawn by Winyan Núpa herself, created in the weeks before she departed an old body to occupy a new host. Each sketch is artfully accomplished, occupying a full page and accompanied by some memento of sorts—a strip of cloth, a lock of hair, a tooth, a smear of blood. The style changes across the years depending on available materials and artistic norms, but each sketch seems magically preserved. Mysteriously and perhaps ominously, a few pages have been torn out.

Powers

Winyan Núpa's Book of Faces is more than a mere scrapbook—each sketch contains a tiny fragment of its subject's spirit. Anyone with an Arcane Background can sense this latent power, and if the book is obtained, they may use this to their advantage. Once per lunar cycle, one of the seventy-seven pages may be burned. If the destroyer liberates the bound essence, they are rewarded with a +2 Spirit Kicker. If they absorb the essence, they are rewarded with a one-time Fate Chip.

Emergency Use

In times of emergency, an additional page may be burned before the lunar cycle is complete. This requires the possessor to spend 10 Power Points and make an appropriate Arcane Background roll against TN-6. A success grants the desired reward, while a failure simply wastes the page. This may be enacted as often as the possessor desires, but only one "reward" may be active at any given time.

Sources & Notes

The image heading this page was created by artist Hunter Bonyun, and was borrowed from DapperDeerLord's tumblr page. It represents the Aztec goddess Tlazolteotl, one of the inspirations for Winyan Núpa.

Author: A. Buell Ruch

Last Modified: 2018 March 30

Email: quail (at) shipwrecklibrary (dot) com

Online Version: <http://shipwrecklibrary.com/deadlands/book-of-faces>